"With a Darth Vader-clone in the Michigan Governor's Mansion and the Romulus School Budget facing a possible $2 million shortfall, the following changes in staffing have been made," said Romulus Superintendent Dr. William Bedell as he announced major school administration changes for the 1994-95 school year.

The initial changes were lis-

· Romulus High School assistant principal Daniel Hurst's switch to the middle school principal's office.

· Bedell's administrative assistant Arthur McPharlin's job description switch to director of technology and partnership.

McPharlin will be taking on more adult education responsibilities in his new position, Bedell said, and his salary will be paid from the adult education budget.

In August the eight-member central office staff will be cut to seven (including McPharlin) as a current member will be switched to one of the school building budgets, Bedell said, as the district pares down the total budget.

City Hall Love readied

By AL POST ANP Staff Writer

All the offices in Romulus City Hall will be temporarily closed at the end of the day on April 8 and then moved over the weekend to the nearby Romulus Public Library building, Treasurer James Napiorkowski told members of City Council Monday night.

The temporary City Hall offices will be opened at 9 a.m. the following Monday. The city offices are slated to remain at that site through November 1994. City Council meetings, as well as Planning Commission, Board of Appeals and Tax Increment Financing Authority meetings will all be switched to Chief Judge Felix Rogalle's courtroom in the 34th District Court House.

Napiorkowski said that while the council meetings will be taped as usual, they will not be telecast live because the cost for such a cable hookup would be cost prohib-

Napiorkowski said the city will telecast the meetings later each week and will alert the public what time the telecasts will occur.

The library-City Hall site transfers were necessitated by asbestos abatement and remodeling projects at both buildings. The first part of the project has been finished at the library, and dividers about 3- feet high have been set up to separate City Hall offices inside the library building.

Limited conference rooms are available at the temporary City Hall site, one next to Mayor Beverly McAnally's office and the other at the rear of the library building.

Numerous city records will be stored at another site, Napiorkowski said.

Well dispute court date nears

By AL POST ANP Staff Writer

As the April 4 trial date for the city of Romulus and Environmental Disposal Services (EDS) draws nearer, three uniformed Romulus police officers were called to provide security for the Monday night City Council session.

EDS is the owner of a 4,000foot-deep injection well slated to be constructed in Romulus.

The city of Romulus is asking that Circuit Court Judge Claudia House Morcom grant it a permanent injunction against EDS, demanding that the well owners seek city zoning permits before they proceed with any future work at the well site of Wahrman and Grant roads.

City residents representing opposing sides attended the Monday night council meeting. Some praised the city for fighting the well and supporting a June environmental millage on one hand, while others sought to convince the council that the "silent majority" favored an out-of-court settlement on the issue and opposed the coming millage.

Ironically, the council meeting next Monday will be the last live session to be telecast until December.

On April 11, City Council sessions will move to 34th District Court Chief Judge Felix Rogalle's court room. The meetings will be videotaped and televised later through November 1994.

Not only will there be no live cable for upcoming council sessions, seats in the court room will be at a premium as there are only about one third See SCHOOL, page A-3 as many as in the council chambers.

A major well opponent and spokesman for Romulus Environmentalists Caring About People (RECAP), R.P. Lilly warned the council that EDS has won two battles by only one vote each in the past.

Lilly said the council gave early support for the well in 1990 by one vote and the Detroit Police and Fire Pension Board voted to help finance the well project by only one vote last year. Looking at the five council members in attendance, Lilly said, "To be pressured at this time to drop the lawsuit. against EDS would be highly suspicious. Let the chips fall where they may...hang tough...let the court decide."

Both Councilmen Noah "Pete" Bergeron and William Wadsworth were absent from the meeting.

Mary Ann Goodman, daughter of John Ryznar (the owner of the well property), said her father, "actually visited the injection well project in Vickery, Ohio, unlike a RECAP member who only examined it from outside the well's property."

Susan Revels challenged the RECAP members' claims that landfills and injection wells are only placed in sections of communities that are inhabited by minorities.

She said three nearby landfills in Riverview, Sumpter and Canton townships are located by mainly white or mixed white-minority neigh-Meanwhile Bobbbie Under-plained, "Last Thursday the biggest hoax EDS has to offer was published in the new Western Wayne edition of the Michigan Chronicle. The stories supporting EDS filled the front page of the newspaper."

The outspoken Charles Miller reappeared at the council meeting to encourage the council to, "Stay the course and don't align yourself with the Judases of our community, who only react to the money part of the well issue." Miller warned the council,

"If we get the well permanently here, your names will forever be linked with whatever is dumped down that well."

An April 6 arraignment on information has been scheduled for an Inkster man charged with three counts of criminal sexual conduct and assault with intent to murder in Detroit Wayne County Recorder's Court.

Freddie D. Triplett, 30, appeared for an examination March 23 before 29th District Court Judge Carolyn Archbold and was bound over to Detroit Recorder's Court.

He is suspected of allegedly sexually assaulting a 16-yearold Westland girl near the railroad tracks in Wayne May 22. 1993.

Triplett was arraigned in an out-county court last weekend. and a $50,000 cash bond was set, according to Wayne Police Lt. Mel Drews.

INFANTS AND PETS: A SAFE COMBINATION?

by Derek Bair, M.D.

Enjoying

A word of advice to new parents: You might have the friendliest dog or cat in the world - but don't let your pet get too friendly with your baby.

Licks and nips can cause serious harm

Documented incidents have proven that babies who are licked, nipped, or bitten by family pets can become seriously ill and possibly die.

This is due to a bacteria in the saliva of dogs and cats which can infect a vulnerable infant. Once infected, the baby may develop sepsis (infection of the blood) or meningitis (infection of the brain). Both conditions can result in death. Also, meningitis can lead to mental retardation, hearing loss, and other developmental delays.

Avoid significant contact

The most likely time for an infant to get infected is the first two months of life. The best way to prevent your baby from becoming infected is to avoid significant contact between pet and baby during this newborn period.

Some minor contact between your baby and pet is expected and beneficial for the family dynamics with the pet. You can let your baby touch the pet, and the pet can sniff the baby's clothing to become accustomed to the new family member. But for the most part, it's best to keep some space between them.

Here are some tips:

· Keep your baby in a playpen, bassinet, or crib, rather than laying him/her down on the floor. Keep your pet outdoors during the newborn period.

· Create a temporary home for your pet in the basement or another blocked-off area.

Once babies are old enough to roll over and lift their hands past the middle of their bodies, they can somewhat protect themselves from an overly friendly lick in the face. Also, their resistance to infection is better.

However, it's never a good idea to leave a baby of any age — infant or toddler — alone with the family pet. There have been too many tragic cases of bites and maulings.

Warning signs of infection

Symptoms such as fever, irritability, lethargy, and decreased appetite are warning signs of infection. Also, if your baby has broken skin accompanied by redness, irritation, and possible drainage, it could be a local infection caused by a bite. If you suspect your baby has been infected by a dog or cat, contact your doctor immediately. Dr. Bair, a neonatologist, is director of

Expensive birds reported stolen

A pair of large gray nonflying Rhea birds estimated to be valued at $5,000 each were reported stolen late Saturday night from a local aviary.

Denver Raymond Nelson of the Nelson Aviary on Tyler Road reported to Romulus police that the two South American birds were locked in their pens about 7 p.m. Saturday and were discovered missing at 10 a.m. Sunday.

The 5-feet high birds that weigh about 60 pounds each have black neck feathers, Nelson said.

The birds resemble the African ostriches, but are much smaller, police were told.

Police report that the gates to the pen were opened despite locks. Police could find no forced entry and no human footprints in the muddy soil surrounding the pen.

Nelson said the birds might have been stolen for breeding purposes.

Mills comments were in retort to some RECAP members'. who demand that Bergeron abstain from voting on injection well issues or executive sessions involving the issue.

Former Councilman Russ Lambert praised citizens on both sides of the issue for speaking their minds "for the first time.'

A supporter of RECAP efforts, Lambert once again reminded residents he was one of the first opponents of the well effort. He also asked voters to back the millage question that will be on the June ballot in Romulus.

Roberta Tribiano, who published a letter addressed to Mayor Beverly McAnally in the Romulus Roman said she attended the Monday night council session to finally get answers to her questions about funding the legal process from McAnally.

McAnally asked, "Don't you live in the Ryznar house?"

Tribiano called back, "It's also my house. What's that got to do with it?"

McAnally continued by saying if the letter had been directed to her office, instead of printed in a newspaper, she would have responded directly.

"But I will not answer through the newspaper," she said. Her comments were followed by heavy applause.

Florence Klein, the caring founder and operator of the Helping Hand Thrift Store of Romulus for the past 30 years, was honored last Friday night by the Greater Romulus Chamber of Commerce as the Chamber's 14th annual Person of the Year.

Mark Lewkowicz, chamber president, said it was almost ironic "that the day I stopped by the thift store to begin our plans for honoring her last winter, I found the experiences shown during the visit actually typified her life.

"Florence told me that day she was not feeling well and the weather outside was really lousy. But she came down to the thrift store anyway because she felt someone might walk through the doorway and say they were in desperate need of food," Lewkowicz said.

Then "when we took Florence to lunch to inform her of her selection as the 14th Person of the Year," Lewkowicz said, "she asked us 'what ever McConeghy had helped Klein's efforts for a number of years by supplying a school basement for her Helping Hand needs.

Jason Lovette, chamber secretary, made arrangements for McConeghy to attend the Friday night festivities honoring Klein.

Lewkowicz and Lovette, who shared co-Masters of Ceremonies positions, introduced Klein's family and honored guests at the dinner at the Clarion Inn Hotel.

Mayor Beverly McAnally presented Klein with an official resolution from the city of Romulus.

Robin Marshall, representing Congressman William Ford's office, gave her an official Congressional resolution. Lewkowicz presented her with a resolution from the Michigan State Legislature signed by numerous area representatives including Rep. Greg Pitoniak (D-Taylor). Lewkowicz also read letters

> He presented Klein with more than $200 worth of donated products for distribution at the thrift center.

Klein also was given a plaque from the chamber and a gift certificate for two special dinners at the Romulus Marriott Hotel.

Music for the evening was provided by Disc Jockey Correy Simmons, a member of the Chris Nordmann Association.

Klein and her husband. Andy, who will mark their 50th wedding anniversary this fall, were honored by having the first dance of the evening accompanied by their special song, It Had to be You!.

Klein thanked the gathering of more than 100 persons and once again appealed for the future use of a larger facility for the Helping Hand program. She also informed the group that financial donations are always welcome at the thrift store. They can be mailed to Romulus P.O. Box 74375.

Anti-graffiti war is declared

By AL POST ANP Staff Writer

Romulus Police Chief Robert Brown has announced plans to toughen enforcement of gang graffiti within the city and warned "there will be no verbal warnings or juvenile diversions" in regard to this style of behavior.

In a memorandum to his police staff, Brown states that with summer months coming the possibility of gang graffiti will grow, thus he urges police officers to "control gang related activity " by covering up "as soon as possible all related graffiti."

Brown adds that all those "responsible for the spray painting" must be appre-hended and held accountable for the destruction of property.

April 11.

He urges officers to report all such cases to the department's youth officer Cooper. "All adults arrested will be brought to the police station, booked and either issued appearance tickets or released pending warrant approval.

In addition "all juveniles will be apprehended, brought to the station, booked and then released to parents with petitions filed," Brown's memorandum states.

Brown said the city's ordinance officer Steve Banko has agreed to participate in the graffiti reporting and Dave Paul, city building department director, will assist in identifying property owners.

Earlier the chief also recommended to Mayor Beverly McAnally that city Drug Enforcement Resistance Education Officer (DARE) John Leacher be sent to a free gang prevention program sponsored by the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms.

"Since the department cannot afford to dedicate an additional officer to instruction of this type," Brown wrote, "we propose that the middle school DARE instruction be replaced by the Gang Resistance Education and Training (GREAT) program.

Brown said if Leacher can not undergo GREAT training this summer, that he be permitted to attend such training next summer.

The GREAT program began in 1991 and the training occurs in the Phoenix, Ariz. area.

and will move them to Romulus High School, where they will be used in rooms adjoining the school auditorium.

'A new ceiling and carpeting also will be added to the council chambers, Napiorkowski said.

Among the remodeling efforts at City Hall will be the installation of a sprinkler system and other fire safety equipment, Napiorkowski said.

Council member Jimmie

Raspberry asked if the council desk setups could be switched to be more in a V-formation so that Mayor pro tem Mary Ann Banks could see which council person was talking during various debates.

Napiorkowski said it would cost $10,000 extra for that change.

Councilman Randy Gear said "at that cost I think it would be cheaper to just have us scoot around a bit to see each other."

Other cuts will be made in overtime pay, out-of-state travel, field trips, school supplies, and miscellaneous items, Bedell said.

Court embezzlement hearing delayed

By AL POST ANP Staff Writer

One more delay has been reported in the court action on embezzlement charges against former 34th District Court Administrator Nancy Schuette as her pre-trial hearing in 29th District Court in Wayne has been postponed from April 5 until June 20.

Local residents for months have pressed the State Attorney General's office for some type of action in the 34th District Court's $270,300 fund shortfall last year.

City taxpayers, the Associated Newspapers and the District Control Unit pressed for information after Schuette and her assistant administrator Tammy Riopelle were relieved of their duties while a sixmonth audit was being conducted on court funds.

Michigan State Attorney General Frank Kelley's office continued to say such requested information was privileged since the case was still being investigated.

Finally, on Feb. 18, Kelley announced that three embezzlement charges had been officially filed against Schuette.

before Judge Carolyn Archbold and released on $5,000 personal bond.

The court set April 5 as the preliminary exam date and then postponed that last week until May 16. It was then postponed again until June 20. Romulus Mayor Beverly McAnally had complained more than two years ago that some type of audit needed to be done, since Romulus was being impacted by the court fund shortfall. McAnally said her cries went unheeded.

In March 1993, then Chief Court Judge William Szlinis alerted the Michigan Supreme Court of possible financial mismanagement in the court financial system.

A state police criminal investigation was initiated along with the court audit. State police now charge that Schuette was able to embezzle the money by making unneccessary void transactions for many years.

A state audit listed monthly shortfalls in the 34th District Court funds from April 1988 until March 15, 1993. The amounts ranged from a low of $100 in March 1990 to a high She was arraigned in Wayne of $11,100 in April 1992.

Services mark church dedication

By AL POST ANP Staff Writer

A Romulus church founded in 1962 in a remodeled home recently opened a remodeled facility that includes a modern sanctuary which will seat more than 300 people.

The Rev. Arthur C. Willis, pastor of the Pentecostal Missionary Baptist Church, said the church offered dual services on Feb. 27 to mark the opening of the new facilities.

Willis obtained approval of the city for the massive church enlargement and informed the city council members at that time that his church members were dedicated to widening programs for troubled youth.

Last year Willis transported 75 city youths to a three-day session at the Holiday Inn in Dearborn. This year, he said, the youths will be taken to a camp in Flint.

To add to the strength of the church youth programs, Willis said, the church has begun a Family Night program each Friday so that families can be under one roof while involved in activities both with and at times separate from other family members. A women's group also will meet Friday nights.

Willis also hopes to help create a youth basketball program, possibly a league sometime in the near future.

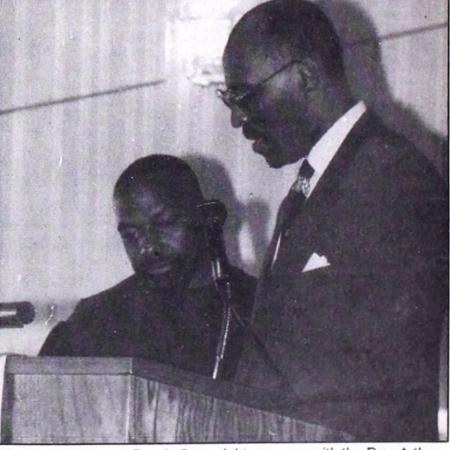

This July, Willis said, his wife, Janice, will be coordinating a "homemade carnival" project for area families that was inspired by Whoopi Goldberg's Sister Act II movie.

In addition a Vacation Bible School will once again be offered, Willis said. Last year the summer church program attracted 150 youths.

Willis also is busy working with other area pastors on the interdenominational Good Friday walk and religious service. He will speak on the "Three Crosses at Calvary" at the Good Friday service. Other local pastors will also take part in the service at the Romulus Wesleyan Church.

The dedication service attended by more than 300 people highlighted songs of praise by the Pentecostal Choir and talks by City Councilman Randy Gear (representing the city of Romulus) and John Glodich, loan officer from the First of America Bank.

The dedication service sermon was offered by Pastor J.H. Johnson of the Greater Middle Baptist Church.

Bedell said once the entire school budget picture is made more clear, the district will be forced to ask the local voters for some help.

Among the other staff cuts looming will be social workers ($150,000 in savings), a high school attendance position ($50,000), department heads ($48,000), school psychologist ($60,000) and a high school counselor ($60,000).

Other staff cuts slated include 75 percent of a high school math- science position ((45,000) and three-fifths of a elementary physical education position ($50,000).

s it revenge - or justice at last?

By LOREN BENNETT Canton Township Clerk

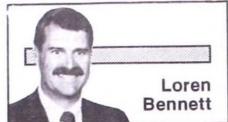

Something occurred to me recently when watching the public television program Off the Record, which is hosted by Lansing journalist Tim Skubick.

Skubick and several other Lansing media types, sounding like they've been in the capital too long, were sitting around discussing the likelihood that people who want to enforce laws against teacher strikes are just out for revenge, because many of these same people supported Proposal A, which the Michigan Education Association opposed.

I started mulling over this in my brain, and I concluded that the brains used by Lansing establishment types must be a different model than mine.

I'm sure you - and I know I often hear what politicians say and suspect there's a hidden agenda. In Lansing, they don't suspect. They assume. That's one reason so few people bother trying to do the right

To put this in perspective, you have to realize that teacher strikes are already illegal in Michigan. This must surely come as a surprise if you live in a school district where the local MEA chapter is constantly threatening strikes. But the law exists, although it is virtually never enforced by judges.

Instead, judges will order round-the-clock bargaining or some such thing, but I can't remember the last time a judge ordered teachers back to work. It just doesn't happen in Mich-

Is this an outrage? You bet it is.

Nonetheless, it has been allowed to go on this way for years, largely because the whole notion of education reform seemed so impossible to achieve that few in the legislature ever considered it worth the fight to tighten the rules.

Furthermore, the political power of the MEA has caused elected officials of both parties to fear taking the union on.

Now, thankfully, there is finally some momentum for real reform. As for the power of the MEA, the union took it on the chin in the Proposal A election, and some politicians who have been afraid to attempt a real solution to the strike problem are finally deciding the union might not be so big and scary after all.

I say three cheers.

the capital press lounges and appearing on Lansing talkinghead shows for much of your professional adult life, I guess you develop the inclination to ask who's scratching who's back before you ask whether an idea is right or wrong.

Enforce the law? Hmm. Must be a hidden agenda. Whoever heard of such a thing?

It's hard for me to imagine a thought process that works like that, but these musings from Off the Record are proof that it exists. I suspect this

But if you've been sitting in tells us a great deal about why the media and its readers/ viewers so often disagree on what is important and what should be reported.

> Some say the media are liberal. I suspect they're a good deal more liberal than conservative, all right. But the real problem, if Skubick's recent show is any indication, is that they start thinking like a great many of the people they cover.

And you know who that is.

Give A Hoot. Don't Pollute.

CITY OF WESTLAND NOTICE OF INTENT TO REQUEST RELEASE OF FUNDS

City of Westland Department of Community Development 32715 Dorsey Road, Westland, MI 48185, 595-0288, TO ALL INTERESTED AGENCIES, GROUPS AND PERSONS: On or about April 11, 1994, the above-named city will request the State of Michigan via the Michigan State Housing Authority (MSHDA) to release Federal funds under Title II of the National Affordable Housing Act of 1990 for the following project:

HOME Rental Rehab. Programs Fiscal 1993 Grant Award

LOCATION Census Tract 5685 (Norwayne) the area bounded by Merriman. Palmer, Glenwood and Wildwood Roads

PURPOSE To bring substandard rental units up to code and to encourage other general improvements to substandard properties. 2. It has been determined that such request for release of funds will not constitute an action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment and, accordingly, the City of Westland has decided not to prepare an Environmental Impact Statement under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (PL91-190). The reasons for such decision not to prepare such a Statement are as follows: A. The program involves rehabilitation only. No new construction will be permitted.

B. Unit densities will not increase by more than 20%. C. The Program does not involve changes in land use from residential to non-residential or from one class of residential to another. D. Each proposed project's estimated cost of rehabilitation is less than 75% of the total estimated cost of replacement after rehabilitation. E. This project has continuing relevance. The Environmental Review Record for above-mentioned project area was prepared in a prior program year for the regular Rental Rehabilitation Program.

3. An Environmental Review Record respecting the project has been made by the City of Westland which documents the environmental review of the project and more fully sets forth the reasons why such statement is not required. This Environmental Review Record is on file at the above address and is available for public examination and copying, upon request at the Office of Community Development Programs, Dorsey Community Center, 32715 Dorsey Road, Westland, MI. between the hours of 9:00 a.m.-5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday. No further environmental review of such project is proposed to be conducted, prior to the request for federal funds. All interested agencies, groups and persons disagreeing with this decision are invited to submit written comments for consideration by the City of Westland to the Office of the undersigned. Such written comments should be received at 32715 Dorsey Road, on or about April 8, 1994. All such comments so received will be considered and the City will not request the release of Federal funds or take administrative action on the within project prior to the date specified in the preceding sentence.

GET READY FOR SPRING BREAK!

Extras, accessories provide fashion touches to prom

For the "most important" social event of the school year, it is best to plan ahead.

Experts - past prom participants - suggest that high school juniors and seniors begin their shopping early for dresses and tuxedos. After the selections are made, accessories to complement them can be purchased.

Young men will find that a good tailor or tuxedo rental company can provide them with tips on what is stylist for 1994, and suggest the type and style of tuxedo to best fill their needs.

Young women should allow enough time to have shoes and purses dyed, and make hair appointments early to avoid a last-minute rush.

Many hairdressers suggest that young women try a new hair style or two before deciding on how to have their hair styled for prom night. It is better to find out that you are not suited for a French twist the week before the prom than an hour before you are scheduled to be there, hair stylists say.

A tanning salon can provide a "preview of summer" with a spring tan in time for the prom especially nice if a white dress or tuxedo are to be worn.

Most important of all, take along a good attitude.

Chronology of events surrounding EDS' disposal well project

Beginning in the late summer of 1990, EDS representatives met with city officials and outlined a general description of the proposed deepwell project. They also furnished information including state and federal references which described the safety record of the project's technology and the strenuous state and federal permitting requirements that they must meet.

Additionally, they employed the Department of Geological Sciences of the University of Michigan to perform a site specific geological study in order to confirm the safety and viability of the project. On Oct. 26, 1990 the DNR responded to an information request from Dennis Oakes, Community Development director of the City of Romulus. According to the DNR's letter, "... of the 20-plus industrial waste disposal wells (Class I) presently operating, we have had no instances of well failure or contamination during a period of approximately 21 years."

In October of 1990, EDS representatives met with Dave Atkins, publisher of the Romulus News, one of the local papers, to discuss the project. The result of this meeting was a full, front page article titled, "Deep Well Disposal of Toxic Waste May Come to Romulus."

On Nov. 20, 1990 EDS furnished Romulus city officials and city council members copies of the completed University of Michigan report. According to the report, "In summary, the porosity and thickness of the proposed injection zone are appropriate for injection of liquid waste, and there are sufficient confining layers above the proposed injection zone to prevent vertical migration of fluids. The proposed site is in a tectonically stable region and there is no evidence to suggest faulting which could compromise the integrity of the proposed injection zone."

At the regularly scheduled council meeting of Dec. 10, 1990 city council passed a resolution (no. 90-589) which acknowledged in part, "Environmental Disposal Systems Inc. and Special Waste Systems Inc. have advised the City of Romulus of their intent to build a Class I commercial disposal well in the city."

On Dec. 19, 1990, Barry A. Seifman, attorney for the City of Romulus, wrote to David Paul, director of the Romulus City Building Department and stated, "In answer to your request for an opinion in regards to the subject matter referred to above, we are of the opinion that the current status of state law appears to preempt any local regulation of all hazardous waste."

On Dec. 21, 1990, Seifman again wrote to Paul and stated, "We were further informed that the State of Michigan, which regulates this type of waste disposal through the geological service division of the DNR, is totally independent from the EPA. The state is a 'direct implementation state' which basically means, as we were told, that the state can impose its own regulations and the EPA can enforce its own regulations, with each party having the right or authority to overrule the other. We feel that such a procedure further reinforces our belief that state law appears to have preempted any local regulation of deep well hazardous waste."

Reporting of the December council resolution appeared in two editions of the Romulus Roman, "The Official Newspaper of Romulus", in January of 1991 titled: "Councilmembers approve waste disposal well in City", and,

"Facts cleared about disposal well."

In late 1990, EDS began its permitting work for both the DNR and EPA.

On Sept. 4, 1991 they provided city officials with copies of the DNR permit which was received on July 30, 1991 and the legal notices published in the Aug. 14, 1991 issue of The Detroit News and Free Press by EPA informing the public of EDS' permit applications.

On Oct. 25, 1991, EDS provided city officials with a copy of the approved EPA permit.

In June, 1992 EDS again furnished city officials and city council members with technical and background information pertaining to the project. Again, in July, 1992, Att. Seifman wrote to Mayor McAnally, "Previously, our office has conferred with the Building Dept. on what authority/control the city has or may have relative to injection wells. I attach copies of our Dec. 19 and 21, 1990 memorandums.

Basically, it is believed the State, through the DNR, and the federal government, through the EPA, have preempted the area. Generally speaking, the federal government dominates over the state, the state over a city. When an area of law has been thoroughly covered by state law so that it would appear nothing is essentially left to legislate for the area, a city law cannot interfere."

It is felt that what control the city has, if any, most likely might come from what the petitioner willingly gives, volunteers. The other part of the problem is that even if given the power to regulate voluntarily by the petitioner, the skills and knowledge in this area, by anyone, are believed limited. This is one reason those with such experience are heavily leaned upon, EPA in particular.

Seifman continued, "In this day and age of litigation I would hesitate to recommend assuming any control over the system except advisory due to the potential of being blamed for any failure. Therefore, if the petitioner is willing to give the city monitoring authority, the city should not accept the same except as to an advisory nature only."

In late July of 1992, EDS advised the city that construction of the well had been temporarily postponed and that upon scheduling of a new date, it would promptly give notice to the city.

On June 23, 1993, EDS representatives met with city officials to inform them that well construction would commence on July 20, 1993.

On July 20, 1993 drill operations began and continued on a 24-hour basis until Aug. 19, 1993 when construction was completed.

During late July and the months of August and September, numerous tours of the site were given to Romulus City Officials.

On Sept. 14, 1993, EDS met with city officials and provided master site plans for their review and comment.

On Sept. 24, 1993, six weeks before a Romulus City election, EDS received a phone call from the city informing it that a group of individuals including a a phone call from the city informing it that a group of individuals including a person running for election to the City Council were opposed to the project. This was the first time, in three years of conversations and meetings with city officials that EDS had received any indication of active opposition to the project.

On Oct. 22, 1993, two months after the well was completed and two weeks before the council election, the city filed a lawsuit against EDS. It charged that EDS had not complied with local zoning procedures and that the site was not properly zoned for a disposal well operation.

Recent events surrounding EDS' project

City council made the decision, in the heat of an election and apparently against the advice of its attorney, Barry Seifman, to file a lawsuit seeking an 'injunction' against EDS. It allocated $100,000 for legal fees to fight what it represented as a simple zoning issue and hired one of the most expensive law firms in Detroit to handle the case.

Approximately six weeks later, the city filed motions for summary judgment, thereby requesting the judge to rule based on application of the law, at face value, without the benefit of evidentiary hearings. Such a ruling would have validated the city's contention that EDS acted with blatant disregard for the city's zoning ordinances.

Prior to Judge Morcom's decision on their motions, council called for an executive session to review its case. On Jan. 26, upon completion of their executive session, council passed resolutions to initiate a ballot initiative for a tax increase to fund an environmental protection fund and draft a budget amendment to allocate another $140,000 for legal expenses. The meeting was not televised and was attended by only four citizens. In the eight weeks since that special session, council has failed to take action on a budget amendment even though their legal expenses have exceeded the original authorization.

Judge Morcom ruled against the city's motions for summary judgment based primarily upon the affidavits provided by EDS showing the close cooperation which had existed until immediately prior to the lawsuit being filed. The judge further ruled against the city on its request that Dennis Oakes' (excommunity development director, now living in Virginia) deposition not be allowed. This motion was later described by the city's attorney as an effort to save on legal expenses.

The bulk of the city's legal efforts to date were directed toward the motions for summary judgment. This action represented the city's original argument that EDS had clearly flaunted city ordinances. At the hearing for a temporary injunction, in November, this argument appeared to have an impact on the judge. With the information subsequently provided by EDS' briefs on summary judgment, the judge has determined that such an allegation, on its face, is clearly not sustainable.

Throughout this time, EDS has communicated its willingness to discuss the city's concerns and possible avenues for settlement. Other than the location of the well, there is little which EDS is not willing to discuss. While this is a normal course of action in litigation, the city has refused these overtures. Even third party suggestions for the formation of a committee or commission to address the issues have been ignored.

City council has now voted to place a charter amendment on the June school board ballot to raise an additional mill for an environmental protection fund. This millage will generate an estimated $500,000 per year over its five year life, 10 times the amount of the city's current anticipated legal expenses. At the suggestion of the city attorney no specific ordinance language regarding other use of the funds should be considered until the millage is approved.

Over the last five years, Romulus has experienced a severe decline in its general fund balance. In her 93/94 budget, the mayor called for over $1 million to be withdrawn to support city services, leaving the fund at slightly over $100,000. She further stated that, "Should alternate revenue enhancements not be sufficient amounts, services in future years will not continue at current levels." EDS has offered just such an enhancement, projected at over $600,000 per year, since it first approached the city in 1990. At the March 7 council meeting Mayor McAnally stated that the city has, ". . reduced our fund balance to practically zero."

EDS has spent considerable money on the lawsuit. The trial will surely be a "barn burner," given the history of EDS' past relationship with the city council and administration. Any hope of a productive relationship with the current city government will be lost. The most important aspects of the benefits package, ongoing monitoring by a citizens advisory committee and the royalty, will no longer be possible. Neither will be affordable given the toll, both financial and in good will, of current events.

EDS' deepwell project has been issued permits by the U.S. EPA and the Michigan DNR. These permits were issued after an extensive review of design and construction standards, local geological conditions and the prevailing land uses in the area. The safety of deepwell technology in Romulus has also been reviewed and accepted by Professors at the University of Michigan and Western Michigan University. EDS is committed to its project in Romulus and firmly believes that deepwell technology provides an environmentally safe and cost effective means of permanent disposal of liquid industrial and hazardous wastes.

Horticulturist disputes claims of 'natural food' superiority

An organic food distributor's comment that "organic produce has a higher content of minerals than commercial produce" prompted an internationally known horticulturist to voice his objection.

"The statement is absolutely false, misleading and scientifically incorrect," said Donald Juchartz, an international horticultural consultant who served with the Michigan State University (MSU) extension service for 32 years.

During the time Juchartz was associated with MSU, he was involved in research and education pertaining to the "organic versus inorganic" controversy.

"There is absolutely no scientific proof that organically grown produce is in any way different (in minerals or nutrition) than produce grown using inorganic materials. This includes the use of pesticides, which does not change the mineral or nutritional contest of foods," Juchartz said. "Research has been done by the U.S. Department of Agriculture with the universal conclusion there is no difference between organically grown or inorganically grown produce when it comes to mineral contest or nutritive value. The only ones who advocate any 'difference' are those who are selling this organic concept and they do this based on emotion and not on scientific fact."

Jucharz noted that "we all live in a chemical environment," as all matter can be reduced and characterized by its chemical content.

"To label something as being 'organic' means that the chemical portion being discussed has carbon atoms in it. Inorganic chemicals are those that do not contain carbon. Both organic and inorganic compounds abound in nature and are a natural occurrence." Juchartz said.

"What the advocate for 'natural organic growing' means is that the produce is grown without using any man made inorganic compounds. This is really an interesting concept because the same compounds that are applied by commercial farmers or homemakers today, are the same compounds that are naturally ring carcinogens in the pro-

And no one is blaming them. The area will have some of the best prep basketball talent in the state, if not the country, dressed up for the 1994-95 sea-

Just look at these names and stats:

· Albert White, a 6-6 junior whose all all-around play - he can shoot the three and is tough under the boards at both ends - will be returning to Inkster High School next year to help coach Monte Dennard win those "final three games" that eluded the Vikings this year.

The Vikings, as you will recall, lost to undefeated Saint Clair Shores Lake Shore in the state quarterfinal of the Class B playoffs. And, oh, would they like to play that one over.

But Dennard also will have available in 1995 James Outlaw, who averaged 17 points and 11 rebounds in the recently concluded campaign.

White and Outlaw definitely will be the seeds that Dennard can plant in his field of dreams for a state title, something that has eluded the Vikings for more than three decades.

And those who think that the Westland John Glenn appearance in the state quarterfinal was a one-shot deal, better think again. Coach Mike Schuette may have lost Tony Goins, but he has the rest of the starters are back, includ-

the premiere players in the state next year," said Schuette. "He has excellent work ethics and that, with the experience he picked up this year, should catapult him if not to the top, surely near the top, of the outstanding prep cagers in Michigan next year."

And there is also a freshman who many coaches feel will rewrite basketball history at Wayne Memorial. He will be coach Chuck Henry's "franchise player" in the following years. Of course, you may have already guessed his name. None other than:

· - Lorenzo Guess, a 6-3, 175 freshman who scored at a 14point-per- game pace and, according to Henry, "is very coachable and one of the keys to our success this in the next three years."

Lake Shore had a 31-29 lead at halftime and they never surrendered it to the Vikings when the game resumed.

The Shorians came out with a wave of buckets and buried Inkster and the Vikings' dreams of their first state cage title. Lake Shore pounded the defending Suburban Athletic Conference champs 21-9 in the third period and enjoyed a commanding 52-38 advantage after three complete periods. There were no doubts about the outcome of this drama as some of the sunshine Inkster patriots began to file out of the gym midway in the third stanza.

"We ran into a team that was tough," said Inkster coach Monte Dennard. "We gave it our best shot and obviously it wasn't not enough. But I am proud of these kids. They have a lot to be proud of. However how many teams can boast of what these kids have achieved this year?"

Not many coach.

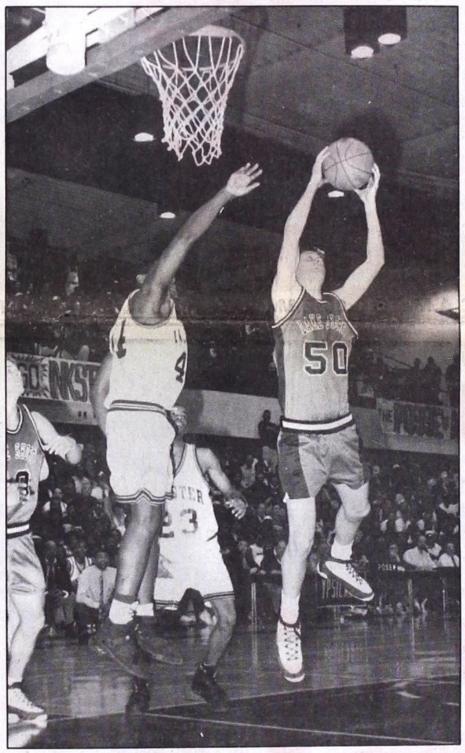

Although Inkster made a mild attempt for a comeback early in the fourth period, the Vikings could not dent the Shorian lead beyond 10 points.

White, a 6-6 all-around athlete, finished his junior campaign with 16 points and 16 rebounds. He also blocked two shots. Outlaw, handcuffed by personal fouls, contributed 13 points and also collected 10 rebounds, while Prewitt chipped in 12 points and had six assists.

Myles, given the task to stop Lake Shore 6-5 senior guard Conlon, had early success, but the Shorian sharpshooter came back for a game-high 25 points - 14 of those were from a perfect night at the free throw

Lake Shore also received an outstanding performance from 6-1 guard Jeff Poutte, who tossed in 20 points.

Rockets run out of fuel in quarterfinals

Westland John Glenn kept its date with destiny last week and was rejected after putting up an excellent show.

Coach Mike Schuette and the Rockets made their first appearance in a Class A state quarterfinal basketball game last week and ran up against a determined Battle Creek Central team that managed to squeeze out a 75-71 victory over Glenn before a standing room only crowd at Lansing Sexton.

"I felt that their pressure got to us in the first half and, though we recovered some what in the third period, we just didn't have enough to get past them," Schuette said.

In that third period and after trailing 18-16 and 37-31 at the end of the first and second stanzas, Glenn made a run at Central thanks to 6-11 junior center Guy Rucker who drilled in nine of his team's 19 points to provide the spark. Glenn, however, never caught fire.

After three, the Rockets closed within a trey (53-50) but Central managed to get the big basket when it counted. In that third period, Albert Jones and Savon Hubbard were cast in supporting roles. Each produced four points for Glenn.

Central, concentrating on neutralizing Glenn's top scorer, Tony Goins, doubled and sometimes tripled team the Rockets' top gun. The Central strategy almost backfired as Rucker, Hubbard and Jones kept their team within striking distance.

"I felt if we could have tied the score, the momentum would have switched," Schuette said. "I also felt that our kids played an excellent game against an excellent team." Battle Creek was eliminated in the Class A semifinals and two

Detroit teams - Pershing and Wilbur Wright clashed for the title. Wright managed to detrone the two-time state champ. Rucker turned in another superb performance as he brought the curtains down on his junior year with a team-high 18 points.

He also collected a dozen rebounds and blocked five shots. Goins ended his prep career with 11 points. He left the prep scene with the distinction of leading the Rockets to their first Class A regional championship and also their inaugural appearance in a state quarterfinals. Hubbard finished with 14 points and Jones accounted for 12 for the Rockets who made 11 of 20 from the free throw line as compared to Central's 15 of 23. Battle Creek's top point producer was 6-6 Demetrios VanSycle, who tossed in 19 points. Cory Gibson, a 6-9 center, had 16 points while Reggie Tucker finished with 12 points.

Glenn finished with an enviable 20-5 overall record. "I felt we caught our second wind during the playoffs," Schuette added. "I'm proud of this team and I know that our fans and

The Shorians, who capitalized on 23 of 28 at the free throw line, went on to win their first Class B state basketball title.

Inkster, with 12 of 18 from the line, finished the season with a 23-1 record.

Dennard said that his team accomplished most of the goals set in the preseason.

"We wanted to win the Suburban Athletic Conference title (they did) and also go undefeated during the regular season (they did), and go as far as possible in the state tourney," Dennard added.

Dennard and the 1993-94 Vikings came up short three victories from reaching their impossible dream.

Father seeks help to fund pageant entries

By MARGO DEWEY Deputy News Editor

Paul Visingardi doesn't want to disappoint his children.

But the recent discovery that his 11-month-old son needs immediate surgery may keep the family, and particularly his 5-year-old daughter from the state finals of a beauty contest she has been looking forward to for several Visingardi, the owner of Vizzy's Pizza Palace in Wayne, and his fiancee, Sheila Burns, are the parents of Jessica, 5, and Mario-Vincent, not quite a year old. Mario-Vincent previously won the Southeastern Michigan Most Beautiful Baby contest and the Most Photogenic Baby contest.

Jessica also qualified as a top contender in a recent beauty pageant.

"On Sept. 25, 1993, both children qualified for the North American Modeling and Talent Association state final competition which is scheduled for April 29, 30 and May 1," Burns said. "The entry fee for each child is about $200. We have sold many boxes of candy and saved money to apply toward the pageant." But those funds will probably be used to defray the medical expenses necessary to ensure Mario- Vincent's health and development.

The family recently discovered that Mario-Vincent required surgery for a soft-tissue atrophic deformity in his left hip, according to his mother.

"The surgery is going to cost us more than $2,000," Burns said. "What he has is an indention of about 1-inch in diameter. He isn't in any pain, however, as he grows, the hole will also grow."

The youngster's condition was caused by an injection of Mederol which is a steroid, ac-some 'so-called' allergies we were told he had," Burns said. "Now, due to the cost of the surgery, the children will not be able to enter the pageant which they were really looking forward to. We would appreciate any assistance from the community."

Mario-Vincent's operation is scheduled for April 5 at Mott's Children's Hospital in Ann Arbor.

Anyone interested in assisting the family can send a check or money order to: Vizzy's Pizza Palace, 2908 south Newburgh, Wayne, Mich. 48184.

The registration deadline for the pageant is April 10.

Paul Visingardi, left, above, and Sheila Burns hope to be able to fund their children's entry into pageants following the discovery that their 11-month-old son, Mario-Vincent needs immediate surgery. Jessica, 5, at right, has qualified and been a winner in a number of contests throughout the state, while Mario-Vincent, below, who needs surgery to repair a soft-tissue atrophic deformity in his hip, displays the look that won him honors to date. Resident releases recording of original country tunes

Life ain't nothing but a funny, funny fiddle...Thank God,

I'm a country boy. An Inkster resident is basking in the limelight of his new stardom having released March 9 his first recordings of original country music.

Ernie Mindel produced and sang 11 songs on the first edition copy of Whisper's In The Wind. Born and raised on a farm, Mindel said he has always had a love for music. "I lived on a farm in Petoskey when I was younger," Mindel said. "I was involved in the choir when I was in

Other songs on the tape include Coulda Woulda Shoulda, De Ja Vu, Raging Smile and There's Nothing Left

To Say. "There's Nothing Left To Say was co-written by record producer Doug Enoch of Nashville," Mindel said. "Most of the songs are middle of the road country along with some blues and ballads. It has a blend of sound that will appeal to everyone."

A graduate of Romulus High School, Mindel has lived in both Wayne and Westland. He said he didn't take a serious interest in recording his music until the late

"I actually started singing gospel music before I became serious with country," Mindel said. "I recorded my first gospel album in the 1970s. I made two gospel albums

Two of the songs from the albums, Until Jesus and In My Home, hit the top five listings on regional charts in New York, Alabama, Arizona and Michigan.

"Then, after a divorce, I began singing country music," Mindel said. "I found that country music expresses more of your emotions."

Mindel had been married 20 years. He said he still cares about his former wife, but singing country music has helped to ease the pain of the divorce.

"A lot of my songs are of things about marriage or divorce," Mindel said. "With country music you can tell a story, and sometimes the endings are happy."

In the mid-to late-1980s, Mindel traveled around the country with a band. He said after that experience, he decided to go solo.

"I've thought about starting up a band again but just to play at country fairs or other special events," Mindel Mindel wrote all of the songs for his first country release in one year. One of the pieces, Time Stands Still he wrote for his son's wedding. "It has been used in several wedding ceremonies since I first produced that song," Mindel said. What inspires this long-time resident to create his original music? He said he can see the words and notes which come to him out of the blue.

"It could happen when I'm just sitting down looking at a picture or driving," Mindel said. "I can see a word or two and then all of a sudden I'm putting together an entire song in a matter of minutes."

Mindel has been an expert on the guitar since he was 12 years old. He just recently started taking piano lessons on his own.

He said his dream is to get a contract with a major recording label.

"I know I'll make it because I have a lot of determination, and I don't stop until the job is done," Mindel said. Area residents interested in receiving a copy of Mindel's Whispers In the Wind can send $10 to: EWM Music, P.O. Box 1302, Garden City, Mich. 48135.

New Coney Island open in Wayne

By MARGO DEWEY Deputy News Editor

A popular family restaurant in Wayne that has been a part of the community for more than 20 years just got better.

The D & W Coney Island in the Metro Place Mall has now moved just down the hall and a new name has been adopted-Wayne Restaurant and Coney Island. The official opening of the restaurant took place March 7.

"We have home cooking and daily specials," said Julie Savich, manager of the Wayne Restaurant and wife of coowner Mike Savich. "The restaurant seats 120 people. We've also expanded our hours. We are now open from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Sunday."

Jordon Spasovski is the other owner of the Wayne Restaurant. Inside the establishment customers will be greeted with soft colors of purple, pink and beige used in booths and interwoven through the carpet.

Portraits of James Dean and Marilyn Monroe adorn the walls.

"We've added to our menu introducing a wide selection of seafood, Italian and Greek delicacies," Savich said. "We also have a full menu of breakfast items."

For those sandwich lovers,

some of the specialities include the tuna, turkey or patty melt, club sandwich and corned beef stacked high.

Individuals who are trying to watch their weight will find a large selection of healthy salads which include: Greekmade with selected greens, tomatoes, feta cheese, olives pepperoncini and olives layered with a Greek dressing; Julienne-lettuce, turkey, ham, Swiss cheese, hard boiled egg and slice tomatoes; grilled chicken-crisp lettuce with American, Swiss cheese with egg and tomato; tuna salad platter-hard boiled egg, sliced tomatoes, large scoop of white meat tuna served on a bed of crispy lettuce and a fruit plate.

"We have barbecue ribs, barbecue chicken or a combination of ribs, chicken and shrimp," Savich said. "Our seafood includes salmon steak, haddock, fish and chips, rainbow trout, white fish, jumbo fried shrimp, shrimp in a basket, breaded scallops, smelt dinner and orange roughy."

For the Italian food lover, all the dishes in this category are served with garlic bread including spaghetti, mostaccioli, chicken parmesan and veal parmesan.

The American cuisine has the popular hearty meals such as steak, pork chops and chicken kabob. A children's menu lists all the favorites including hamburgers, grilled cheese and spaghetti.

Prices are very reasonable. The service is outstanding.

"We try to make the customer feel at home," Savich said. "Whatever you need, we'll try to get it for you."

A carry out menu is available. To order a selection from the menu call 326-6094 or 326-6099.

Perfection

Bonnie's Bridals offers what every woman wants

Bonnie Bentley displays one of the many gowns created at Bonnie's Bridals where custom orders and a combination of styles are a common occurrence in creating perfect gowns for weddings and proms.

By LAURIE HUMPHREY ANP Staff Writer

After 10 years of working out of a home, opportunity knocked for the co-owners of Bonnie's Bridals.

Bonnie Bentley and Karen McDermott opened their Livonia shop at 19183 Merriman, on the corner of Seven Mile Road, last December.

"An opportunity presented itself when the Bridal Basket closed," said Bentley, "and we took it. It's something we had talked about for years, so we finally did it."

Featuring a wide selection of marital merchandise, Bonnie's Bridal's carries gowns for all wedding party participants, prom dresses, shoes, head pieces, jewelry, invitations, gloves, fans and parasols.

Stocked with manufacturers including Jorden, J.P. Originals, Mary's, Eden, Bonny's and T.C. Originals, the store can accommodate any bride, bridesmaid, mother or flower girl, the owners said. If consumers are looking for a less familiar look, employees of Bonnie's Bridals can also create a dress based on pictures or ideas.

"We're unique in that we can supply any style gown," said Bentley. "We can design, the girls can draw, or we can use pictures to give them anything they want. It's not unusual for a person to see a gown they like, but they like the sleeves on another dress better."

p.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday and from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Tuesday and Thursday, the shop is open from 11 a.m.

until 4 p.m. Saturdays. The coowners of Bonnie's Bridal's strive for one goal - "We always want to satisfy the customer with fit," said Bentley. "We want the girls to be comfortable, if they're not, we'll tear it all apart and start over."

The upcoming prom season is one of the busiest times for the shop, Bentley noted, and they also are usually very busy in October.

"Business has been great with prom season coming up. All the girls are coming in and asking for custom-made dresses because nobody wants to have the same dress as someone else."

Girls can pick up prom dresses for as low as $99, "and that includes the price of alterations," said the co-owner.

See BRIDAL, page C-5

Bonnie's Bridals also offers custom head pieces for brides.

New discount program saves readers' cash

Local advertisers in the new Associated Newspapers VIP section are expressing their surprise at the success of the new program according to Rhonda Dobbs, VIP sales director.

"We've just had a terrific response," she said. "Merchants are telling us that they have already had several people come in and use the cards-and they are surprised at the ease with which they are receiving the discounts offered."

Dobbs noted that one of her clients had already had six clients take advantage of the VIP card discount during the first few days--and another who had several people inquire about using the card.

"It's great," Dobbs said. "It's just great to have such a terrific response from the advertisers and it shows us that this program works," she said.

The new program is simple, Dobbs explained, and provides a real service to both the advertisers and those looking to purchase items at a discount or savings.

"It works out well for everyone involved," Dobbs said.

The program provides a listing in each edition of Associated Newspapers of merchants offering various discounts to VIP cardholders. The distinctive green and white cards were delivered to Associated subscribers recently, Dobbs noted, and many didn't hesitate to use them.

'We were thinking of going to the merchants to see if they worked, but before we could, we got calls from the advertisers saying how successful the ads were and that this was something really needed for a long time," Dobbs added.

The discounts are available only to the cardholders and each edition of the paper provides new listings of various discounts. Advertisers sign on for a minimum term of ads and must provide a minimum discount to cardholders, above the regular sale prices they may be advertising or honor-

"This program makes the VIP card very special," Dobbs said, "and I can't tell you how happy the staff and I are to see this kind of success. If subscribers want to save money, and who doesn't these days, and merchants want to get people into their stores, this is the program for them," she added enthusiastically.

Dobbs is assisted in the VIP program efforts by Rob Dobbs. who is also enthusiastic about the program and the results he has heard of from his clients.

"The businesses who are buying these advertisements are buying them lock, stock and barrel," Ron Dobbs said. They really believe, as we do, that their advertisements will be viewed and considered more because the real beauty of the VIP discount program is the way it brings merchants and consumers together with volume and savings."

Advertisers will vary with each issue and the amount of discounts will change as advertisers change their copy or their special deal for the week, noted Mike Wilcox, general manager of Associated Newspapers. "This is a brand new project for us and I anticipate great success," Wilcox said. Wilcox noted that interested businesses can phone 729-4000.

MAY WE SUGGEST

It was just too tempting.

There we were, right on Michigan Avenue, and there was Andy's Town Lounge, so close, so inviting, and so . . . in we went. My roommate had been listening to my praise of Andy's for a week, and she was sure I had been exaggerating. But, she was impressed with the atmosphere and she liked the little train running around the room above our heads.

Remembering how full I was after enjoying one of Andy's steaks last week, I chose one of the many hamburgers on the menu. And, since it was just a hamburger, I thought I'd have room for French fries. My roommate chose one of Andy's steaks--hoping, I think, to be able to say it wasn't all I'd said it would be.

When our orders came, she had to admit that I hadn't steered her wrong. Her steak was perfect--but my burger was a work of art. Our waitress brought it to the table piled with sauteed onions and mushrooms, and smothered with mozzarella cheese. It was served open-faced with crisp lettuce and two slices of tomato, all on a lightly toasted bun. And, piled next to that perfect hamburger was a mound of French fries, deep fried to a golden brown and hot and crisp. But they didn't stay on the plate very long. I finished every one of them and had to take half my burger home.

And my roommate? Well, she'll be dieting for a week, but she says it was great and she's going back--very soon. So am I. Andy's Town Lounge is located on Michigan Avenue, 1 1/2 miles west of Telegraph Road in Dearborn Heights. Hope to see you there.

Good Food Co.

Local grocery store is answer for health-conscious shoppers

Today, most grocery shoppers are as interested in the quality as quantity of food they purchase and for them, the Good Food Co. in Canton Township is a dream come

Good Food Co. is a natural food supermarket which offers a wide variety of vegetarian foods, a delicatessen, a juice bar, frozen foods, snack foods, candy and baby food, all made from natural products.

"We prefer not to carry products with artificial colors and flavors or preservatives or sugar," explained store manager Sandra John. "People ought to be concerned about what is in their food supply," she added.

The supermarket, at 42615 Ford Road in Canton Township, also offers all natural cosmetics, natural spring waters, herbal teas, books, gourmet and gift items. For a limited time, VIP card holders can receive a $5 discount off purchases of $25 or more.

Those who have never when they come in here. They shopped for or tasted natural foods are encouraged to visit the new location. Open since October of last year, store employees offer samples to customers who come to the delicatessen and ask.

"What we're trying to do is show people that natural foods can be good for you and taste great," said John. "People can sample the soups, salads, entrees or frozen desserts."

Topping the list of dessert favorites is Gise, a frozen dessert that resembles yogurt, which is available in 100 fla-

The 20,000-square-foot store caters to customers from 9 a.m. until 9 p.m. Monday through Saturday and from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. Sunday. Staffed by nearly 50 employees, the business has met with resounding success in the new location.

"Business has been good," said John. "We have two stores, our other location is in Troy. People are overwhelmed never knew there was this much variety, because they've never seen anything bigger than a General Nutrition Cen-

Most people expect natural food to be priced higher than items at the supermarket, said the manager, but that is not the

"When people come in and look at the prices, they're surprised to find the prices on our boxes of cereal are comparable to the prices in other stores. We discount most of a r prices by 7-percent across the board to offer one-stop shopping, all at a good price."

Most of the organic produce at Good Food Co. is from California, John explained.

"Organic produce has a higher content of minerals than commercial produce because most farmers deplete the soil of natural nutrients.

The depletion occurs due to overuse of petrochemical

The wealth of fresh, naturally grown produce at reasonable prices has proven a strong attraction to local shoppers who have been flocking to the Good Food Co. in Canton Township since the 20,000-foot natural food store opened in October of last year. fresh and natural

"We're calling it Good Day Cafe," John said. "It's done in a rain forest motif, with leafy green carpeting and a sky blue ceiling. So no matter what Michigan weather is like, it's always a good day in here," she added.

Individuals concerned about the foods they eat and how to best prepare healthy meals are thrilled to discover a Monday night class at Good Food Co. which addresses those issues, John said.

"We offer classes to the public on all subjects concerning health, cooking and ingredients in the restaurant area at 7 p.m. every Monday," said John. "Most classes are free but some cost $3."

Individuals interested in the weekly classes or the Good Food Co. newsletter can phone 981-8100 for more information.

Bomb threat forces school evacuation

Students and faculty were evacuated from Adams Junior High School early Monday afternoon when an anonymous caller informed a school secretary that there was a bomb in the building, Westland police said.

School officials notified police about the bomb threat at 33475 Palmer Road around 2:30 p.m. when an unknown male telephoned the school and, in a muffled voice, said, "There is a bomb in the building and it is going off in 15 minutes," according to police reports. Officers and faculty checked the building finding no evidence of explosives and students returned to classes the same day.

Arraignment scheduled for

Westland men

An April 15 arraignment on information has been scheduled for two Westland men charged with felonious assault and carrying a concealed weapon in Detroit Wayne County Recorder's Court.

Wayne police arrested Frank D. Bell, 22, and Joseph M. Wiper, 18, who were allegedly involved in an assault incident at 2 a.m. March 18 in the Farmer Jack parking lot in Wayne Police Lt. Mel Drews said the incident is gang related.

"The victim and his friends were in the grocery store shopping when an argument took place," Drews said. "The argument continued outside, and at that point a gun was pulled on the victim. No injuries occurred."

Bell is charged with felonious assault and carrying a concealed weapon. Wiper is charged with felonious assault. Both defendants were arraigned March 19 and a $2,500 cash bond was set for each.

If Bell and Wiper are found guilty of felonious assault, they could receive up to five years in prison.

32 homeless, 6 injured in apartment fire

By JENNIFER PLACINTO ANP Staff Writer

Thirty two residents found themselves homeless after an apartment blaze set a 16-unit complex on fire Wednesday afternoon, according to Westland Assistant Fire Chief Mike Reddy.

Westland firefighters responded to the fire at 12:59 p.m. at the Venoy Pines Apartments, located at 7127 Bonnie Drive in Westland. The fire originated in the bedroom area of a first-floor apartment located on the 7400 block of Bonnie Drive, Reddy said. Firefighters were notified of the blaze by occupants in the originating apartment who managed to escape unharmed.

Five residents and one firefighter were transported to Annapolis Hospital and treated for minor injuries and smoke inhalation, according to Westland Assistant Fire Chief George Riley.

Fire crews from Wayne and Garden City were called in to assist Westland through the Mutual Aid Response Pact in which area firefighters were trained to work with each other and learned how to adapt their systems to differing fire equipment. More than 35 area firefighters battled the blaze which lasted about two hours.

Firefighters rescued five people from the burning building, Reddy said. After tossing his 4-year-old child down to a neighbor, one man injured his leg while attempting to save himself and his teenage child from their burning second story apartment.

Blooming success Florist wins People's Choice award

By LAURIE HUMPHREY ANP Staff Writer

What began as a show of support for a non-profit organization landed a local florist high honors at one of the top 10 floral shows in the nation.

Keller and Stein, a third-generation Canton Township florist, entered the 1994 Ann Arbor Flower and Garden Show to promote gardening and to support a worthwhile organization. Nowhere along the line did the florists expect to win the blue ribbon and People's Choice Award for their entry in the small-space gardening division.

According to manager Jan Wood, the two awards almost went to another exhibit. With enough space to house approximately 500 participants, Keller and Stein was asked to occupy a spot that had been reserved for another florist who could not participate. "Most florists begin planning for their exhibit months ahead of time," said Wood, "but since we were a last-minute entry, we had two weeks." Only by working together was the team at Keller and caring for the flowers or covering for us at the shop so we could be at the show," said Wood.

Stein able to create the kind of magic in an 8 x 8 empty room necessary to win the awards. "Everybody here helped either by decorating the room,

Living up to this year's theme 'Once Upon a Time', the florists created 'Peter's Perfect Dream' entailing a vegetable garden, a rabbit nest, even a trail of rabbit droppings leading from one group of flowers to the next.

"Rabbits use hair to make the floor of their nest," said the manager, "so I got some cat hair by brushing a friend's cat and collected rabbit pellets from my garden to make the display look realistic. The key is detail."

By MARGO DEWEY Deputy News Editor

A Wayne man was arraigned March 31 on charges of second-degree murder and felony firearm before 29th District Court visiting Judge John McCartney.

A $250,000 bond was set for Bruce Edward Buford, 23, who allegedly shot to death 20-year-old Wayne resident Richard Daniel at his aunt's home at the Hickory Hollow complex March 29.

Police received a 911 call from the victim's aunt approximately 12:19 a.m., according to Wayne Police Chief John

"The call came from the 5600 block of Lincoln Drive," Colligan said. "When officers arrived at the scene, they found the victim on the floor of the unit unconscious suffering from what appeared to be a gunshot wound. The victim was in the home of his aunt."

Details of the shooting could not be released by police until the preliminary examination which is scheduled for April 6 before 29th District Court Judge Carolyn Archbold.

'The victim was transported to Annapolis Hospital," Colligan said. "He was pronounced dead on arrival."

Resident charged in murder of wife

By JENNIFER PLACINTO ANP Staff Writer

A 48-year-old Westland man was arraigned on charges of first-degree murder Wednesday in the bludgeoning death of his 47-year-old wife at their family home early Tuesday morning.

Paul Thomas Crammer is being held without bond pending his April 7 preliminary examination in Westland 18th District Court.

Crammer is accused of striking his wife, Paulette Crammer, in the head three times with a wooden baseball bat. Mrs. Crammer was pronounced dead later that morning at Garden City Hospital of head injuries.

Although family and friends say the couple have not had an on-going problems, Westland police Sgt. Marc Stobbe said, "Crammer did suspect his wife of having an affair. However," Stobbe added, "family and friends told police it was highly unlikely the woman was committing adultery because she was far too busy with her "He is a jealous man. There is no indication that she did that," Stobbe said.

The incident was reported by the couple's 25-year-old, live-in daughter, Pamela, around 2:05 a.m., Stobbe said. The woman was in her bedroom when she heard a noise and left her room to investigate. She called 911 to report the assault when she heard her father drive away from the family home located on the 32000 block of Sandra Lane and found her mother in their bedroom, according to Stobbe.

Crammer drove directly to the Westland Police Station and confessed to the crime. According to Stobbe, Crammer went to the front desk and held his hands in the air and said, "I surrender - I just killed my

Dealer faces fraud charges

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER News Editor

Speculation surrounding the closed Chevrolet auto dealership on Belleville Road ended this week when the U.S. District Court announced that Patricia Boyle, 47, owner of Pat Boyle Chevrolet, Inc., had been arraigned on charges of bank fraud and bankruptcy

Boyle, a Farmington Hills resident, was indicted by a grand jury in early March following an 18-month investigation by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

According to Assistant U.S. Attorney Stephen J. Murphy III, Boyle appeared in court voluntarily on March 25, and was released on personal recognizance bond. No trial date has been set, Murphy said.

The U.S. attorney said that the 14-count indictment charged that Boyle had "executed a scheme to defraud First of America Bank of Southeastern Michigan of

Additionally, the grand jury charged that Boyle, who filed for personal bankruptcy in 1993, made false statements on her bankruptcy petition and more than $3.2 million. As part of the scheme, Boyle submitted statements and reports to the bank indicating that automobiles acquired by the dealership, but financed by a $2 million line of credit extended by the bank, were in the dealership inventory, when in fact, the automobiles had been sold to retail customers. The automobiles were to have served as collateral for the line of credit.

"Additionally, the grand jury charged that Boyle, who filed for personal bankruptcy in 1993, made false statements on her bankruptcy petition and concealed assets from her creditors," according to the indictment.

Under the U.S. Sentence Guidelines, if the suspect is convicted on all counts, sentences could total a maximum of 320 years in prison and $11 million in fines, or both.

The attorney noted that an indictment is only a charge and is not evidence of guilt. In the upcoming trial, it will be the burden of the government to prove guilt beyond a reasonable doubt.

Information on the fraud allegation came to light when bank officials reported the circumstances to the FBI, which they are required by law to do.

Convicted murderer receives life in prison

A 30-year-old Westland man, convicted of first-degree murder in the death of a 3-year-old Warren girl in late July 1993, was sentenced to life in prison without parole by Oakland County Circuit Judge Fred Mester, Oakland County Prosecutor Greg Townsend said.

Donald Joseph Gimotty, was convicted after a five-day jury trial in Oakland County Sixth Circuit Court. Gimotty was also found guilty of retail fraud, conspiracy to commit retail fraud, fleeing and eluding police and felonious driving, Townsend said.

Gimotty was arrested when the vehicle he was driving ran a red light smashing into the victim's mother's car during a high speed police chase.

His alleged partner in crime, 44-year-old Calvin Billingslea of Detroit, is scheduled for a June 13 jury trial. Billingslea, who is being held on a $200,000 cash bond, is charged with first-degree murder, conspiracy to commit first-degree retail fraud and retail fraud.

The July 25, 1993 incident occurred when Gimotty, who was traveling 65 mph, ran a red light at Maple and Dequindre in Troy and crashed broadside into a car occupied by Nichole Thibodeau and her mother Lisa Ann Sarles, 35, of Warren, Kozma said.

The two were charged with eluding police after stealing 20 silk dresses from a Royal Oak store.

Winning an award from the Ann Arbor Flower and Garden Show is a real honor, explained Wood. "This is like winning the Daytona 500 for florists," said the woman. "And winning the People's Choice Award, by an estimated 22,000 people, is an added feather in your cap."

The four-day event, hosted by the Matthaei Botanical Gardens, is open to florist shops and amateurs who display their works and recognize the beauty of gardening. Displays fill five adjoining barns on the Washtenaw Farm Council Grounds, the price of admission will be used to help support public service, plant research, education and conservation.

Garden Show has a small, dedicated staff that is just wonderful," said Wood who has entered the event on her own five different times. "It's a lot of fun and it just gets better every year."

Two Keller and Stein employees, Dawn Brackney and Annis Simpkins, also received rave reviews for their personal entries in the horticulture perfection division. Brackney, of Wayne, took home the blue ribbon, while Simpkins, of Wayne, was runner-up.

Simpkins said her entry was entitled "Cinderella's Dust Pan" where a miniature garden was created in an actual metal dust pan.

"I had a sign on it which said 'Cinderella Swept Here," Simpkins said. "I used cinders, table-top ferns, maiden hair ferns and rabbit foot ferns."

This was the first time Simpkins entered this kind of contest. She said her inspiration came from the job that she does so well at Keller and Florist shop employees, now busy with the Easter weekend rush, are hoping to claim a spot in the next show but have not made any plans for the 1995 exhibit.

"One man who leaped from the second floor did receive leg injuries," Riley said.

According to Riley, the man jumped from the building during the early stages of the fire before fire officials arrived.

"The fire progressed rapidly. He was lying on the ground when we arrived on the scene," Riley said.

Another woman, who was trapped in her second-story apartment, was overcome by smoke and rescued by Westland firefighters.

Wayne fireman Mel Moore was also transported to the hospital after suffering a puncture injury while trying to

According to Reddy, the firefighter response time was excellent.

"We made a good stop on the building," Reddy said.

The cause of the fire is under investigation and although only three of the apartments received "extensive" fire damage, according to Riley, many of the other units suffered smoke and water damage.

Representatives from Venoy Pines are aiding fire victims with relocation into other housing and the Salvation Army and Red Cross also aided victims with more immediate concerns, Reddy said.

Salvation Army officers from Plymouth, Downriver, Westland and the Eastern Michigan Divisional Headquarters responded to the victims of the apartment fire and are working with the City of

Prom time

Looking at a selection of prom dresses are Belleville High School (BHS) French Club members (left) Jamie Smith, Jennifer Prince, instructor Cindy McPherson and Stacey Buhro. They display a variety of styles from a dramatic black and white floorlength dress to a brightly colored ruffled bodice and skirt design. Popular colors for this season are black, white and a combination of the two plus navy, red and purple. Styles range from slim to flared in long and short dresses. While the attention of students from all communities is focused on prom fun, the BHS Students Against Drunk Driving(right), led by President Jason Bloodworth (center), are working on awareness programs to promote responsible behavior and safe driving during prom activities and through graduation. Drive up like a star in a limousine

Driving to the prom in your dad's Mustang or your mom's Escort is acceptable, but to make the event a memorable one, try motoring to the prom in a limousine.

The expense of renting a limousine for the evening can be more affordable if two or more couples team up for the drive. Most limousines will seat six people comfortably and luxuriously - and, if the three couples plan to dine together after the prom, it is even more convenient.

Because limousines are rented by the hour, it is best to map out an itinerary before the driver arrives to avoid wasting time and money. Drivers usually are wellacquainted with the area and can assist the prom-goers in selecting right routes to include a stop by the homes or parents or grandparents to "show off their prom finery."

Both black and white limousines are available, and sizes range from classic size to extra-large stretch limos.

It is best to reserve a limousine early for prom night, because the next three months are busy ones for the limousine services due to the many weddings, graduations and prom scheduled during that period.

State Attorney General Frank J. Kelley and U.S. Attorney Saul Green announced Thursday that the state has charged two Detroit area professional corporations, Dr. Sharif Baig, the 55-year-old owner of the corporations and five employees of the corporations in a scheme to practice medicine without a license and to defraud the state Medicaid program by filing false claims, according to a press release issued by Kelley's office.

The alleged scam took place at all four clinics owned by charged with state and federal

The Health Stop clinic off Wayne Road in Westland was one of the facilities closed following charges of practicing medicine without a license and billing improprieties this week.

Baig including: the Health Stop Medical Center in Wyandotte, the Dearborn Heights Medical Center in Dearborn Heights, the Park Avenue Medical Center in Lincoln Park and the Wayne-Westland Medical Center in Westland.

Only the owner and employees from the Health Stop Clinic in Lincoln Park and the Park Avenue Center were crimes, the press release stated. However, the Wayne-Westland Clinic posted a sign on the front of their doors announcing the clinic closure and directly questions to the federal Task Force 24-hour hotline at (313)226-5827.

Baig was arraigned in Wyandotte 27th Judicial District Court and 25th District Court for filing false medical claims. The following individuals were charged with practicing medicine without a license, filing false Medicaid claims among other charges: Thomas Claringbold, 52, of Trenton; Michael Ammon, 33, of Southfield; and Oscar Polonio, 30, of Hamtramck, according to the release.

Narendra Makati, a 43-yearold Trenton resident employed as a billing clerk at Health Stop, was also charged with filing false Medicaid claims along with Dr. Marshall Schuster, 57, of Ann Arbor.

Robber shoots at man 4 times

By JENNIFER PLACINTO ANP Staff Writer

A 25-year-old Garden City man had a close call with death late Sunday night when a man allegedly trying to rob him, pulled out a pistol and fired four times at close range toward the vehicle in which he was sitting, according to Westland police Sgt. Marc Stobbe.

The victim had just been through the drive-through lane at Taco Bell, located at 201 S. Merriman Road in Westland, and was waiting at the Taco Bell exit around 11 p.m. when an older model blue Ford Mustang pulled alongside his vehicle, Stobbe said.

The passenger got out of the vehicle and ran toward the victim's vehicle, reaching inside the victim's driver's side window. The attacker attempted to grab the man's wallet which was lying on the car dash board and the victim began to struggle with him, according to Stobbe.

Unable to grab the wallet, the assailant attempted to grab the victim's car keys out of the ignition. When the robber could not get the keys, Stobbe said, the attacker pulled out a nickel plated automatic pistol and fired four shots into the vehicle.

"The man was able to accelerate and he got away," Stobbe

The victim did not suffer any injuries. Two of the shots hit the driver's side rear door, one hit the front passenger seat and a fourth went through the victim's nylon jacket, Stobbe said.

The victim fled northbound on Merriman Road and was not followed by the attacker.

The victim was unable to give a good description of the attacker, who is described as a black male wearing a black coat and the crime is under investigation by police, Stobbe said.

Digging in Trial pits city against hazardous waste disposal well owners

By AL POST ANP Staff Writer

A City of Romulus zoning trial involving Environmental Disposal Systems, owners of a planned $6.1 million hazardous/non-hazardous liquid injection well, is slated to begin tomorrow in Wayne County Circuit Court.

The trial could last up to three weeks, according to attorneys involved in the proceedings.

The controversial environmental well project that has been the center of continual verbal battles at Romulus City Council meetings since August 1993 will be heard before Circuit Court Judge Claudia House Morcom beginning at 9 a.m. Monday.

Earlier, the city won a temporary injunction imposed by Morcom blocking EDS from doing any further work at the Romulus well site, until the well company obtains city permits from the Romulus Building Department.

Last summer, EDS erected a 4.000-foot deep injection well at the site in the area of Wahr-man and Grant roads based on permits given by the federal Environmental Protection Agency and the state Department of Natural Resources.

The basic construction of the first planned well was already completed when the issue exploded into the middle of a City Council election campaign last fall.

Angry citizens, fearing their nearby private wells would become toxic, pressed the initial complaints against the well owners. The emotional cries ultimately led to several weeks of protest marches outside the EDS property and the formation of an anti-injection well citizens group known as Romulus Environmentalists Caring About People (RECAP) that demanded legal action against EDS.

Weekly exchanges of charges developed at City Council meetings with many of the most bitter jibes aimed at City Councilman Noah "Pete" Bergeron and his father-inlaw, John Ryznar, owner of the property that EDS is seeking to purchase for the one and possibly two liquid injection operational.

Early this year, another opposing citizens' group, Voice of Taxpayers for Efficient Spending (VOTES), was organized and conducted a postcard campaign to determine how many citizens were opposed to a planned city wide millage vote this June.

The millage request is seeking funding for an ongoing environmental defense fund for the city.

Douglas Wicklund, EDS president, had warned earlier that once the trial begins EDS will "remove many of its earlier offers from the negotiating

Among the incentives EDS was offering the city of Romulus was a 5- percent royalty on environmental fees well customers would pay EDS. It had been projected such a royalty plan could pay the city of Romulus $500,000 a year.

EDS also offered to put together a package of benefits that would include environmental classes for local students and the hiring of local residents once the wells were

Man not guilty of kidnapping

A 43-year-old Inkster man back yard of the 32-year-old was found not guilty of assault in the alleged attempted kidnapping of a 6-year-old Westland boy at his Powers Street home in late July 1993.

Curtis Booth was found not guilty by a Westland 18th District Court jury. Booth was accused of allegedly attempting to kidnap a child from his mother's Westland home. The mother told police she pursued the assailant in the alleged victim's father's car.

The father, a 33-year-old New Boston man, was in the Westland woman's home when he heard his son yelling, "He's trying to get me," police said.

The father observed the alleged attacker getting out of a gray Mercury parked in front of the woman's home and ran toward the driver yelling at him. The man allegedly drove . Bullock, who represented off and the parents pursued, leaving the children behind, police said.

The couple followed the alleged perpetrator to a parking lot at Kruk Brothers Hardware on Inkster and Van Born roads

When police arrived around 11:40 a.m., Booth told the officers he drove from the grocery store on Michigan Avenue and Outer Drive to the hardware store and produced a grocery receipt with a checkout time of 11:20 a.m., police said.

Inkster attorney Steven Booth, indicated after the trial that, "It was unfortunate that the Booth family had to be put through this ordeal; but this verdict has restored Mr. Booth's faith in our system of justice." Bullock added.

Grief can take care of itself, but to get the full value of a joy you must have somebody to divide it with.

Hot dog New Coney Island open in Wayne

By MARGO DEWEY. Deputy News Editor

A popular family restaurant in Wayne that has been a part of the community for more than 20 years just got better.

The D & W Coney Island in the Metro Place Mall has now moved just down the hall and a new name has been adopted-Wayne Restaurant and Coney Island. The official opening of the restaurant took place March 7.

"We have home cooking and daily specials," said Julie Savich, manager of the Wayne Restaurant and wife of coowner Mike Savich. "The restaurant seats 120 people. We've also expanded our hours. We are now open from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Sunday."

Jordon Spasovski is the other owner of the Wayne Restaurant. Inside the establishment customers will be greeted with soft colors of purple, pink and beige used in booths and interwoven through the carpet.

Portraits of James Dean and Marilyn Monroe adorn the

"We've added to our menu introducing a wide selection of seafood, Italian and Greek delicacies," Savich said. "We also have a full menu of breakfast items."

For those sandwich lovers,

some of the specialities include the tuna, turkey or patty melt, club sandwich and corned beef stacked high.

Individuals who are trying to watch their weight will find a large selection of healthy salads which include: Greekmade with selected greens, tomatoes, feta cheese, olives pepperoncini and olives layered with a Greek dressing; Julienne-lettuce, turkey, ham, Swiss cheese, hard boiled egg and slice tomatoes; grilled chicken-crisp lettuce with American, Swiss cheese with egg and tomato; tuna salad platter-hard boiled egg, sliced tomatoes, large scoop of white meat tuna served on a bed of crispy lettuce and a fruit plate.

"We have barbecue ribs, barbecue chicken or a combination of ribs, chicken and shrimp," Savich said. "Our seafood includes salmon steak, haddock, fish and chips, rainbow trout, white fish, jumbo fried shrimp, shrimp in a basket, breaded scallops, smelt dinner and orange roughy."

For the Italian food lover, all the dishes in this category are served with garlic bread including spaghetti, mostaccioli, chicken parmesan and veal parmesan.

The American cuisine has the popular hearty meals such as steak, pork chops and chicken kabob. A children's menu lists all the favorites including hamburgers, grilled cheese and spaghetti.

Prices are very reasonable. The service is outstanding.

"We try to make the customer feel at home," Savich said. "Whatever you need, we'll try to get it for you."

A carry out menu is available. To order a selection from the menu call 326-6094 or 326-6099.

Suburban Floors has business covered

Residents in the Wayne-Westland area may soon have a new neighbor, and they are looking forward to the move. Ed Skelly, sales manager at Suburban Floors, presently lo-

Suburban Floors, presently located at 24522 Michigan Ave. in Dearborn, explained that the business is family-owned and operated and has been since 1950.

"Our customers are dealing with a family operation which has experience and offers a fair price," Skelly said. "I'm not one who says I'm going to give you anything for free (padding or labor) and then hide it in the carpet price like others."

Owned by Scott Falkiewicz, Suburban Floors also custom designs cabinets, wallpapers and handles some plumbing and electrical needs. The store currently features name brands including Philadelphia Shaw, World, Bishop, Royal and Mercury carpets but is looking to add more selection.

"We're looking to add more," Skelly said, "once we relocate in the Wayne/ Westland area. Where we are now, we are not conducive to foot traffic because there's no room for parking or to walk around."

The business is open from 9 a.m. until 9 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. In addition to carpets, Suburban Floors offers customers hardwood, ceramic and linoleum flooring. For a limited time, VIP card holders will receive an additional 10-percent discount on select carpet styles or can take advantage of a special three-room offer.

"We're offering three rooms or 32 yards of carpeting for $499 with a 10-year warranty on carpet, a lifetime warranty

Ed Skelly, left, sales manager at Suburban Floors, 24522 Michigan Ave. in Dearborn, takes pride in the reputation for quality and honesty the family-owned and operated business enjoys. A penny saved . . . New discount program saves readers' cash, attracts merchants

Local advertisers in the new Associated Newspapers VIP section are expressing their surprise at the success of the new program according to Rhonda Dobbs, VIP sales director.

"We've just had a terrific response," she said. "Merchants are telling us that they have already had several people come in and use the cards--and they are surprised at the ease with which they are receiving the discounts offered."

Dobbs noted that one of her clients had already had six clients take advantage of the VIP card discount during the first few days--and another who had several people inquire about using the card.

"It's great," Dobbs said. "It's just great to have such a terrific response from the advertisers and it shows us that this program works," she said.

The new program is simple, Dobbs explained, and provides a real service to both the advertisers and those looking count to cardholders, above the regular sale prices they may be advertising or honor-

"This program makes the VIP card very special," Dobbs said, "and I can't tell you how happy the staff and I are to see this kind of success. If subscribers want to save money, and who doesn't these days, and merchants want to get people into their stores, this is the program for them," she added enthusiastically.

Dobbs is assisted in the VIP program efforts by Rob Dobbs, who is also enthusiastic about the program and the results he has heard of from his clients.

"The businesses who are buying these advertisements are buying them lock, stock and barrel," Ron Dobbs said. They really believe, as we do, that their advertisements will be viewed and considered more because the real beauty of the VIP discount program is the way it brings merchants and consumers together with volume and savings."

Advertisers will vary with each issue and the amount of discounts will change as advertisers change their copy or their special deal for the week, noted Mike Wilcox, general manager of Associated Newspapers. "This is a brand new project for us and I anticipate great success," Wilcox said. Wilcox noted that interested businesses can phone 729-4000 to purchase items at a discount or savings.

"It works out well for everyone involved," Dobbs said.

The program provides a listing in each edition of Associated Newspapers of merchants offering various discounts to VIP cardholders. The distinctive green and white cards were delivered to Associated subscribers recently, Dobbs noted, and many didn't hesitate to use them.

We were thinking of going to the merchants to see if they worked, but before we could, we got calls from the advertisers saying how successful the ads were and that this was something really needed for a long time." Dobbs added.

The discounts are available only to the cardholders and each edition of the paper provides new listings of various discounts. Advertisers sign on for a minimum term of ads and must provide a minimum dis-

EXTRA! EXTRA!

The Associated Newspapers Circulation Department has

GONE

Several weeks ago the company acquired Mr. Aristotle (the Ape). Mr. Aristotle has decided to invade the circulation department and is eating us out of house and home. With the high price of bananas, it's costing the department $22.22 a day in bananas alone. So we are going totally ape and are offering a one-year subscription at the price of $22.22 in an effort to buy bananas until we find this monkey a home!

This offer only valid until April 30, 1994. Then the ape and the bananas are out of here!

With every subscription, you receive an entry blank to win Mr. Aristotle (a 4-foot stuffed ape, valued at $250), and any bananas we have left at that time.

Drawing will be April 30 at 3 p.m.
